To give the best result, a professional clean and polish and preventive fluoride treatment may be required prior to teeth whitening at an additional cost of $140.

Additional Terms and Conditions When Using Private Health Insurance

Central Brisbane Dental has no control over what your private health insurance pays towards your dental treatment. We can process your health fund card on our HICAPS machine as a complimentary service. When we do this, they will pay any benefits to us directly on your behalf to save you having to claim back the benefits yourself after paying us in full. However, what your health fund pays towards your dental treatment is entirely between you and your health fund. It is your responsibility to contact your health fund regarding their terms and conditions, especially the benefits they provide and limits and restrictions on these. Central Brisbane Dental does not accept responsibility when your health fund does not pay the benefits that you think they should. You are responsible for paying your account whether your health fund contributes to it or not.
